Curriculum Links: a study of an aspect or theme in British history that extends pupils' chronological knowledge beyond 1066.

a significant turning point in British history

Workshop Description: The period schoolroom is adapted for use as a Second World War classroom. Find out what it was like to be an evacuee in a new school. Experience an air raid drill and the importance of knowing how to identify war planes. Using items from our handling collection students can discuss how being an evacuee might have affected them.
